NEW CHAPTER IN HEROIC SAGAS OF THE SEA

CAPTAIN FRIED RESCUES CREW OF FREIGHTER

FINDS SINKING "FLORIDA" IN PITCH DARKNESS WITH GALE ROARING

FREIGHTER, WATERLOGGED AND
RUDDERLESS, NOW AT BOT-TOM OF SEA

By HARRY R. ZANDER
New York, Jan. 24.—A new chapter in the heroic sagas of the sea was being written today as Captain George Fried of the United States liner America ploughed his way to New York with 32 members of the crew of the abandoned Italian freighter Florida, rescued in pitch darkness last night in a full gale upon the high seas 700 miles off the Virginia Capes.

The Florida itself, waterlogged and rudderless, is probably at the bottom of the sea. It was listing badly and could not much longer contend against the violence of the gale when the triumphant rescue vessel turned about to race for New York.

While Capt. Fried, with the 32 lives snatched from death was hurrying to land, the American Tanker Dannedake, reported sinking 100 miles farther off the Virginia Capes Tuesday, had effected temporary repairs and was limping into port in the Bermudas under her own power.

The British freighter Tesebridge, with a crew of 30 men, was given up for lost 200 miles east of Cape Race, after ships which had sped to her rescue in response to S O S summons failed to find any trace of her.

The rescue of the Florida's crew last night takes its place alongside the most heroic bits of seamanship in maritime annals. The rescue occurred on the night of the third anniversary of an almost equally heroic rescue by Capt. Fried of the crew of the freighter Antiope under almost similar circumstances in the North Sea.

Fried was then in charge of the United States liner President Roosevelt.

Those who remember the abashed demeanor of the doughty master when he was acclaimed by foreign governments as well as his own for that feat, considered characteristic his brief radio message last night giving credit to his chief mate.

This was his cryptic and dramatic radio message to the offices of the United States line here:

"Rescued full crew of Florida, 32 men. Chief Officer Harry Manning in charge. Full cold westerly gale. Life boat lost proceeding to New York. Full details later."

Later a brief message from Capt. Fried was received by the U. S. lines here saying he expected to reach New York Friday morning if the weather was good and Friday afternoon if the seas still were heavy.

Veteran seamen in every maritime port will reconstruct the "full details later" which Fried promised his superiors, the details of that heroic hour which intervened between the two radio messages.

Capt. Fried was approximately 350 miles away when the radio brought word that the Florida was in dire distress, rudderless and helpless. Fried was bringing his ship with a heavy passenger list to New York.

Fried shot a message to the Florida that he would be there in 35 hours. He exceeded that estimate only by four hours.

Capt. Fried succeeded in finding the Florida after the President Harrison of the Dollar Line and the York of the North German Lloyd line had given up the search.

Word reached here yesterday that the Dollar liner President Adams, which grounded approaching Cristobal recently, sailed today from Balboa, for Los Angeles and San Francisco, carrying 33 of the 81 original passengers. Temporary repairs were made at Balboa and the Adams will go into dry dock at San Francisco for complete repairs.

FLYING SQUAD TO CAMPAIGN AGAINST MEXICAN REBELS

Mexico City, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Twenty-one army air pilots were ordered to proceed with their planes today in an active campaign against rebels in the mountains of Jalisco, Michoacan, and Guanajuato. Bristol and Borhaun machines will be used.

Big Push On for Huge Naval Cruiser Program

FORTY PASSENGERS KILLED AS TRAIN IS BURIED IN SNOWSTORM

Berlin, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—A radio message to the newspaper Tageblatt from Budapest reported today that 40 passengers were killed when a Roumanian train was buried in a snowstorm.

The accident occurred between Turnu-Magurele and Lita, the message said. It was assumed the train was struck by an avalanche.

DR. AUSTIN H. CLARK EXPLAINS THEORY OF THE ORIGIN OF MAN

EVOLUTIONISTS ATTACK IT AS BEING WITHOUT FOUNDATION

CREATIONISTS FIND IT NEW ARGUMENT FOR THEIR BELIEFS

Dr. Austin H. Clark, noted biologist of the Smithsonian Institution, who startled the scientific world a few days ago with a new theory of life in which he maintained that man appeared suddenly on earth in the same form as he is in today, has written the following article for the United Press, explaining his new theory. Evolutionists throughout the country have attacked his theory as without foundation while creationists have found it a new basis of argument for their beliefs.

By DR. AUSTIN H. CLARK
(Written for the United Press)
(Copyright, 1929, by United Press)

Washington, Jan. 24.—The essence of this concept of evolution may be stated in a few words. In the first place, it is rather a harmonizing of previous theories than a new idea.

While the idea of linear evolution involving a time element is in general quite valid within restricted groups, as for instance in the horses, yet it must undergo a certain modification, for gaps are found in all of these evolutionary lines which seem to be real, that is never, so far as we have been able to learn, bridged by so-called missing links.

This is a modification of the commonly accepted ideas of evolution in the direction of the theory, known as the mutation theory, upheld by De Vries.

It is obvious that the gap between cats and dogs and their immediate relatives is quite broad, and it remains broad throughout the fossil record. Cats never become dogs; but both are carnivorous mammals.

Between the backboneed animals and the invertebrates, such as the insects, the gaps are very broad, and those peculiar types which are intermediate between them are widely different from either.

Between the invertebrate groups, as insects, shells, starfishes, and so forth the gaps are still broader. These gaps go back unchanged to the earliest fossils that we know. So that so far as these creatures are concerned we have no justification in assuming a time element in the evolutionary process.

So wide are the gaps between these various types of humbler creatures that these cannot be arranged in any sort of evolutionary line. But they do seem to fit perfectly well into a somewhat complicated diagram showing each to have affinities with several others, not merely with a single one.

This portion of the idea is wholly new; but it is very technical and it deals with creatures with names familiar only to specialists in zoology. It might possibly be described as an exaggerated application of the views of De Vries.

Regarding man, he is in structure very close to the manlike ape, but no link between the two ever has been found, and I do not believe that such a line ever existed. Of course, there may have been such a link, but until this is proved we have no justification in denying the known facts and assuming its existence.

So far as our knowledge goes, man appeared on earth in substantially the form in which we now him now.

First Gun Fired in Legislature Over Big 3 and University of Minnesota Added Aid

$900,000 INCREASE SOUGHT BY UNIVERSITY

"BIG THREE" HAD RECOMMENDED THE SUM OF $7,141,000

GROUP OF MEMBERS PREPARE BILL SETTING FIGURE AT $8,068,000

By HECTOR PERRIER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

St. Paul, Jan. 24.—The first gun in the long-heralded war between the Minnesota legislature and the department of administration and finance over appropriations was placed into position today when plans were made to increase the Minnesota University appropriations by $900,000.

Senator Lewis Duemke and Representative Henry J. Johnson, Minneapolis, with the aid of other members prepared bills which would provide for a university appropriation of $8,068,000 rather than the $7,141,000 recommended by the "Big Three."

In addition to the substantial increase in the university funds, it was also said that a bill will be introduced calling for a 10-year building program on the campus to cost $3,000,000.

Meanwhile committees in the senate and house continued their inquiries into the condition of state institutions for the unfortunates. Board of control members have declared that several institutions are badly overcrowded and new buildings are required to house the overflow.

It is generally believed that the legislature will attempt to provide large appropriations for the institutions that have been recommended by the department of administration and finance through Governor Theodore Christianson.

Other activity at the capitol today included:

A bill introduced by Sen. E. L. MacLean, Minneapolis, authorizing sale of the state testing mill in Minneapolis.

Additional bills by Senators MacLean and Fred W. Besette, Orr, which would provide for the sale of the old capitol and the erection of an adequate state office building.

Presentation in the senate of a concurrent resolution memorializing congress to pass the Shipstead-Newton bill which would prevent further

PLANS MADE FOR WORLD'S FAIR IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Plans for the world's fair here in 1933 are being made in the theory that aviation will have progressed so rapidly during the next four years that most of the fair visitors will come by airplane.

Architects' plans for the exposition buildings call for the erection of towers of glass and steel rising 800 to 1,000 feet in the air, their tops clouded in colored vapors to guide airplane pilots to the scene of the celebration.

Harvey W. Corbett, chairman of the commission drawing up fair plans, estimates that 1,000,000 visitors at the fair will come by airplane.

CLEVELAND BIRTH CONTROL SENSATION

JUDGE DISMISSES DIVORCE PETITIONS AND GIVES COUPLE BLESSING

Cleveland, O., Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Common Pleas Judge Harrison W. Ewing dismissed the divorce petitions of Otto and Helen Kourim figures in Cleveland's recent birth control sensation, and today gave his blessing to the couple as they started life together anew.

Attorneys for the couple told Ewing their clients had adjusted their differences and now are living together, with their three children.

"This is no surprise to me," Ewing said. "I have been working for a month to effect a reconciliation."

Six weeks ago, Ewing refused the couple a divorce on the grounds that they might remarry and have more children. He was quoted as having ordered them to practice birth control.

He attributed their difficulties to the inability of Kourim to provide for his wife and three children and blamed juvenile court officials for not supplying them with birth control information.

Custody of Otto Jr., year-old son, was awarded to Mrs. Kourim, and that of Edward, 2, and Bertha, 4, to their father.

alteration of lake and river levels in the Superior National Forest.

Opposition by the house motor vehicle committee to an extension of time for the payment of vehicle license fees. The limit is Feb. 15.

SEARCH FOR BANDIT WHO KILLED GIRL

LAURA BUCHOLZ CHICAGO, IS FOUND DYING IN VACANT LOT

SKULL HAD BEEN BEATEN IN BY HEAVY WOODEN BLOCK

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Police and citizens searched the marshes and prairies of Blue Island, southwest suburb, today for a bandit who seized Laura Bucholz, 26-year-old office worker, beat her with a heavy club, and left her dying in a vacant lot a block from her home.

She died without regaining consciousness. Her skull had been beaten in by a heavy wooden block, found near her body which had been dragged several blocks from the street where the attacker seized her.

The attack was witnessed by Mrs. Grace Hanley, a school teacher, who heard the young woman's screams and saw the attacker dragging the lifeless body from the street into a clump of bushes.

Police called by Mrs. Hanley found Miss Bucholz's body lying in a crumpled heap near a clump of bushes. The wooden club, three feet long, was lying near her body.

The victim's purse was missing, leading police to believe that robbery was the motive for the attack. Miss Bucholz was accompanied from work by Miss Grace McMullen. The two alighted from the suburban train together and separated only a short distance from the Bucholz home.

Police believed the young office employee was accosted shortly after she separated from Miss McMullen.

"I heard a scream and sounds of a struggle," Mrs. Hanley said. "I raised the window and looked out. A big man was dragging the girl across the street. I called neighbors but before they got there the man had disappeared in the darkness of the bushes."

Miss Bucholz was the daughter of Charles Bucholz, automobile salesman.

LONG, CURVING STREAM LINES OF NEW PICKLE

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—The 1929 pickle will have long, curving lines instead of the bumps and twists of older models, the National Pickle Packers' association announced here. Packers will be able to pack almost twice as many of the 1929 model pickles in a bottle as formerly.

IRON ORE TAX REDUCTION RESOLUTION

PRESENTED TO LEAGUE OF MUNICIPALITIES BY D. B. McALPINE OF IRONTON

SHARPLY ATTACKED AND AFTER HOT DEBATE IS VOTED DOWN

St. Paul, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—The Minnesota League of Municipalities today refused to recommend to its legislative committee a proposed resolution which sought reduction of taxes on the ore mining industry.

Shortly after Dr. O. E. Locken, Hibbing mayor and president of the league, had opened the meeting and placed his fellow townsman, C. E. Campton, in charge of the session, D. B. McAlpine of Ironton proposed the adoption of the iron ore tax reduction resolution which was sharply attacked.

After several minutes of hot debate the proposal was definitely voted down.

The league however, did give its approval to many impending pieces of legislation now before the state legislature.

A bill proposing city planning and zoning was approved which would substitute legislation sponsored by Senator G. D. McCubrey, Moorhead.

Establishment of civil service regulations for city and village firemen was favored after considerable discussion.

Sharp attacks on the proposed municipal budget laws brought about a decision to postpone action in the state legislature until later. The budget bill would fix a system for local government finances.

The meeting was adjourned shortly before noon until 2 P. M. Sessions will be concluded tonight with a banquet.

NORTHWEST GETS BETTER WEATHER

MILDER TEMPERATURES WELCOMED AFTER TWO DAYS COLD AND BLIZZARDS

St. Paul, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Mild temperatures were welcomed throughout the northwest today after two days of cold and blizzards.

A light snowfall was not expected to seriously impede work of restoring transportation facilities to normal. Trains and busses, except in some rural districts, were running on schedule.

Three deaths in Minnesota during the past two days were traced to the cold wave.

St. Paul, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Crippled by Tuesday's blizzard, the northwest today again suffered from a heavy snow fall and sub-zero temperatures.

Trains and busses had scarcely resumed scheduled operations Wednesday when they were once more reported either delayed or cancelled. Most railroads reported traffic difficulties and trains were running from a few minutes to a half hour late.

Bus lines between St. Paul and Chicago and those to Grantsburg, Rice Lake and Mondovi, Wis., were cancelled because of drifted roads. Street car plows were ordered out in the Twin Cities and automobile movement was made difficult by the 2-inch addition of snow at noon.

Weather men predicted temperatures ranging from zero to at least 5 degrees below zero. The skies may clear up however, they said, by Friday.

APPROPRIATION BILLS BEING SIDETRACKED

SHOW DOWN ON LAST LARGE ITEM OF COOLIDGE LEGISLATIVE SLATE

ADMINISTRATION LEADERS ARE NOW FACING A STIFF FIGHT

By PAUL R. MALLON
Washington, Jan. 24.—The big push for the $174,000,000 naval cruiser program started in the senate today.

Vital appropriation bills which usually are given the right of way were shoved aside for the showdown on the last item on the Coolidge legislative program. Administration leaders know they are facing a stiff fight and they do not want to delay it longer, fearful that the bill may be jeopardized in the usual jam at the closing of the session.

The bill was handed down by Vice President Dawes at the close of yesterday's session after the senate had adopted the first deficiency appropriation bill including an increase of $24,000,000 for prohibition enforcement and the democratic amendment requiring the internal revenue bureau to hold public hearings and publish in all tax refund cases involving more than $10,000.

Only two speeches have yet been made on the cruiser bill although it has been the unfinished business since congress reconvened Jan. 3 from the Christmas recess. Chairman Hale of the naval affairs committee and Senator Swanson, democrat, of Virginia, have endorsed its provisions for 15 new 10,000 ton cruisers and an aircraft carrier to be built within three years.

The opposition is led by midwestern republicans from farm states. Their tactics against recent pending business encouraged administration leaders to believe a filibuster was being attempted to stave off a vote on the bill as long as possible.

Consequently they decided not to act on the pending agriculture department and independent offices appropriation bill until the cruiser bill is voted upon. Debate is expected to last a week or more.

The $126,000,000 first deficiency appropriation bill carrying two provisions opposed by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon was passed by the senate yesterday without a record vote. One of the amendments required the internal revenue bureau to hold public hearings and publish decisions in all tax refund cases where the sum involved exceeds $10,000.

The tax publicity amendment, a condition to the appropriation of $75,000,000 for refunds, was introduced without the sanction of the committee by Sen. McKellar, democrat, Tennessee. The modification was by unanimous consent and the amendment was adopted by a viva voce shortly before the bill itself was passed.

The adoption of the modified amendment was considered an important victory for the tax publicists.

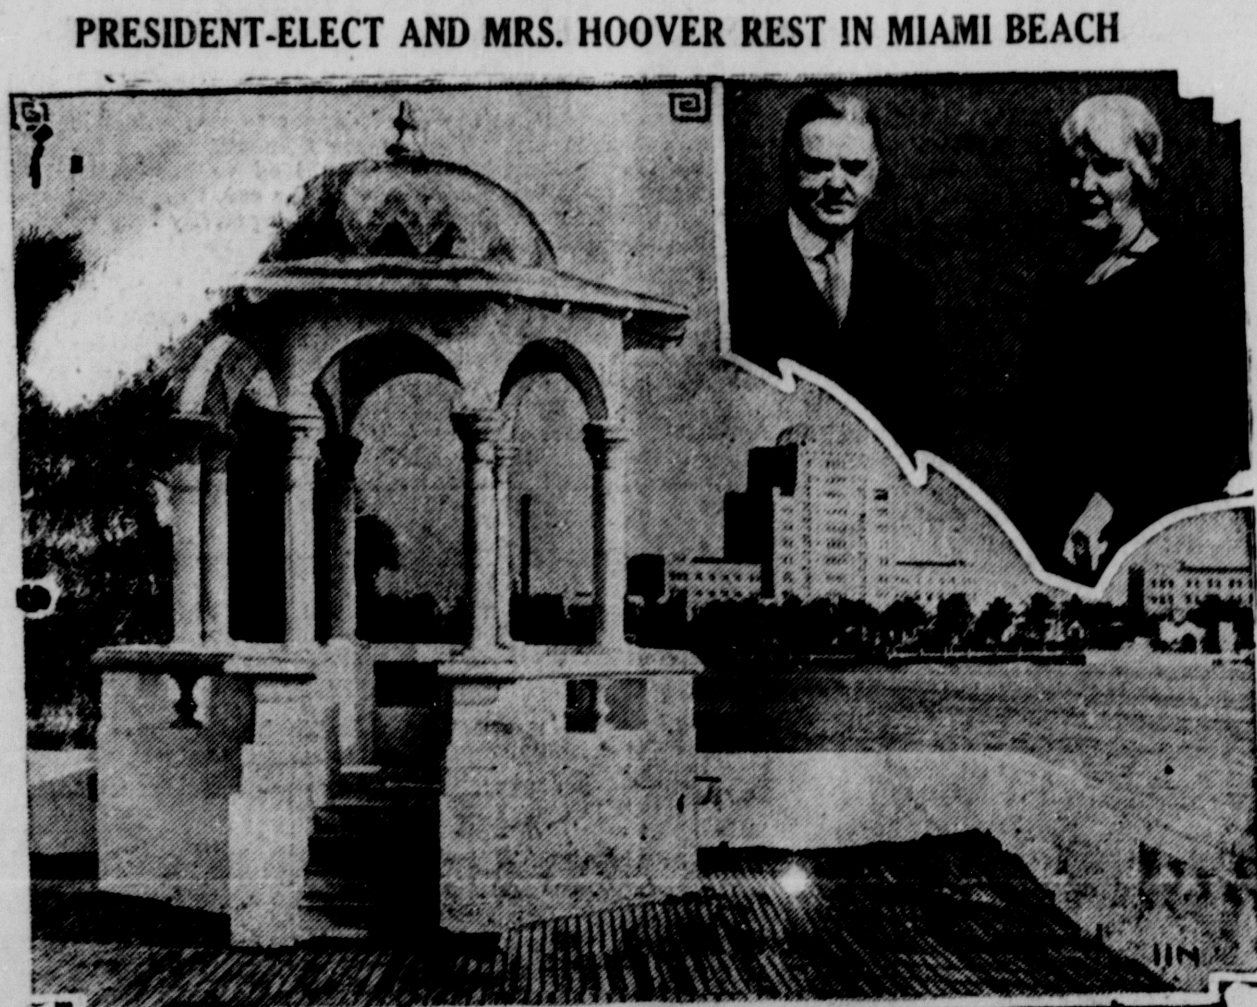

Little other important business was on the calendar for the day. The house decided to spend another day on minor bills, hoping to pass 30 or 40 before night.

SOCIETY WOMAN IS CHARGED WITH BEING DRUNK WHILE DRIVING

Washington, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Miss Mary Elizabeth Culberson, 26, daughter of the late C. A. Culberson, former governor and United States senator from Texas, was released on $1,000 bond today on charges of driving while drunk and leaving the scene of a collision. Miss Culberson was arrested on Pennsylvania avenue following a chase of six blocks by police. Police charge Miss Culberson collided with five automobiles and raced away.

St. Paul, Jan. 24.—The first gun in the long-heralded war between the Minnesota legislature and the department of administration and finance over appropriations was placed into position today when plans were made to increase the Minnesota University appropriations by $900,000.

Senator Lewis Duemke and Representative Henry J. Johnson, Minneapolis, with the aid of other members prepared bills which would provide for a university appropriation of $8,068,000 rather than the $7,141,000 recommended by the "Big Three."

Cleveland, O., Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Common Pleas Judge Harrison W. Ewing dismissed the divorce petitions of Otto and Helen Kourim figures in Cleveland's recent birth control sensation, and today gave his blessing to the couple as they started life together anew.

SEARCH FOR BANDIT WHO KILLED GIRL

LAURA BUCHOLZ CHICAGO, IS FOUND DYING IN VACANT LOT

SKULL HAD BEEN BEATEN IN BY HEAVY WOODEN BLOCK

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Police and citizens searched the marshes and prairies of Blue Island, southwest suburb, today for a bandit who seized Laura Bucholz, 26-year-old office worker, beat her with a heavy club, and left her dying in a vacant lot a block from her home.

She died without regaining consciousness. Her skull had been beaten in by a heavy wooden block, found near her body which had been dragged several blocks from the street where the attacker seized her.

The attack was witnessed by Mrs. Grace Hanley, a school teacher, who heard the young woman's screams and saw the attacker dragging the lifeless body from the street into a clump of bushes.

Police called by Mrs. Hanley found Miss Bucholz's body lying in a crumpled heap near a clump of bushes. The wooden club, three feet long, was lying near her body.

The victim's purse was missing, leading police to believe that robbery was the motive for the attack. Miss Bucholz was accompanied from work by Miss Grace McMullen.

The two alighted from the suburban train together and separated only a short distance from the Bucholz home.

Police believed the young office employee was accosted shortly after she separated from Miss McMullen. "I heard a scream and sounds of a struggle," Mrs. Hanley said. "I raised the window and looked out. A big man was dragging the girl across the street. I called neighbors but before they got there the man had disappeared in the darkness of the bushes."

Miss Bucholz was the daughter of Charles Bucholz, automobile salesman.

NORTHWEST GETS BETTER WEATHER

MILDER TEMPERATURES WELCOMED AFTER TWO DAYS COLD AND BLIZZARDS

St. Paul, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Mild temperatures were welcomed throughout the northwest today after two days of cold and blizzards.

A light snowfall was not expected to seriously impede work of restoring transportation facilities to normal. Trains and busses, except in some rural districts, were running on schedule.

Three deaths in Minnesota during the past two days were traced to the cold wave.

St. Paul, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Crippled by Tuesday's blizzard, the northwest today again suffered from a heavy snow fall and sub-zero temperatures.

Trains and busses had scarcely resumed scheduled operations Wednesday when they were once more reported either delayed or cancelled.

Most railroads reported traffic difficulties and trains were running from a few minutes to a half hour late.

Bus lines between St. Paul and Chicago and those to Grantsburg, Rice Lake and Mondovi, Wis., were cancelled because of drifted roads.

Street car plows were ordered out in the Twin Cities and automobile movement was made difficult by the 2-inch addition of snow at noon.

Weather men predicted temperatures ranging from zero to at least 5 degrees below zero. The skies may clear up however, they said, by Friday.

APPROPRIATION BILLS BEING SIDETRACKED

SHOW DOWN ON LAST LARGE ITEM OF COOLIDGE LEGISLATIVE SLATE

ADMINISTRATION LEADERS ARE NOW FACING A STIFF FIGHT

By PAUL R. MALLON
Washington, Jan. 24.—The big push for the $174,000,000 naval cruiser program started in the senate today.

Vital appropriation bills which usually are given the right of way were shoved aside for the showdown on the last item on the Coolidge legislative program. Administration leaders know they are facing a stiff fight and they do not want to delay it longer, fearful that the bill may be jeopardized in the usual jam at the closing of the session.

The bill was handed down by Vice President Dawes at the close of yesterday's session after the senate had adopted the first deficiency appropriation bill including an increase of $24,000,000 for prohibition enforcement and the democratic amendment requiring the internal revenue bureau to hold public hearings and publish in all tax refund cases involving more than $10,000.

Only two speeches have yet been made on the cruiser bill although it has been the unfinished business since congress reconvened Jan. 3 from the Christmas recess. Chairman Hale of the naval affairs committee and Senator Swanson, democrat, of Virginia, have endorsed its provisions for 15 new 10,000 ton cruisers and an aircraft carrier to be built within three years.

The opposition is led by midwestern republicans from farm states. Their tactics against recent pending business encouraged administration leaders to believe a filibuster was being attempted to stave off a vote on the bill as long as possible.

Consequently they decided not to act on the pending agriculture department and independent offices appropriation bill until the cruiser bill is voted upon. Debate is expected to last a week or more.

The $126,000,000 first deficiency appropriation bill carrying two provisions opposed by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon was passed by the senate yesterday without a record vote. One of the amendments required the internal revenue bureau to hold public hearings and publish decisions in all tax refund cases where the sum involved exceeds $10,000.

The tax publicity amendment, a condition to the appropriation of $75,000,000 for refunds, was introduced without the sanction of the committee by Sen. McKellar, democrat, Tennessee. The modification was by unanimous consent and the amendment was adopted by a viva voce shortly before the bill itself was passed.

The adoption of the modified amendment was considered an important victory for the tax publicists.

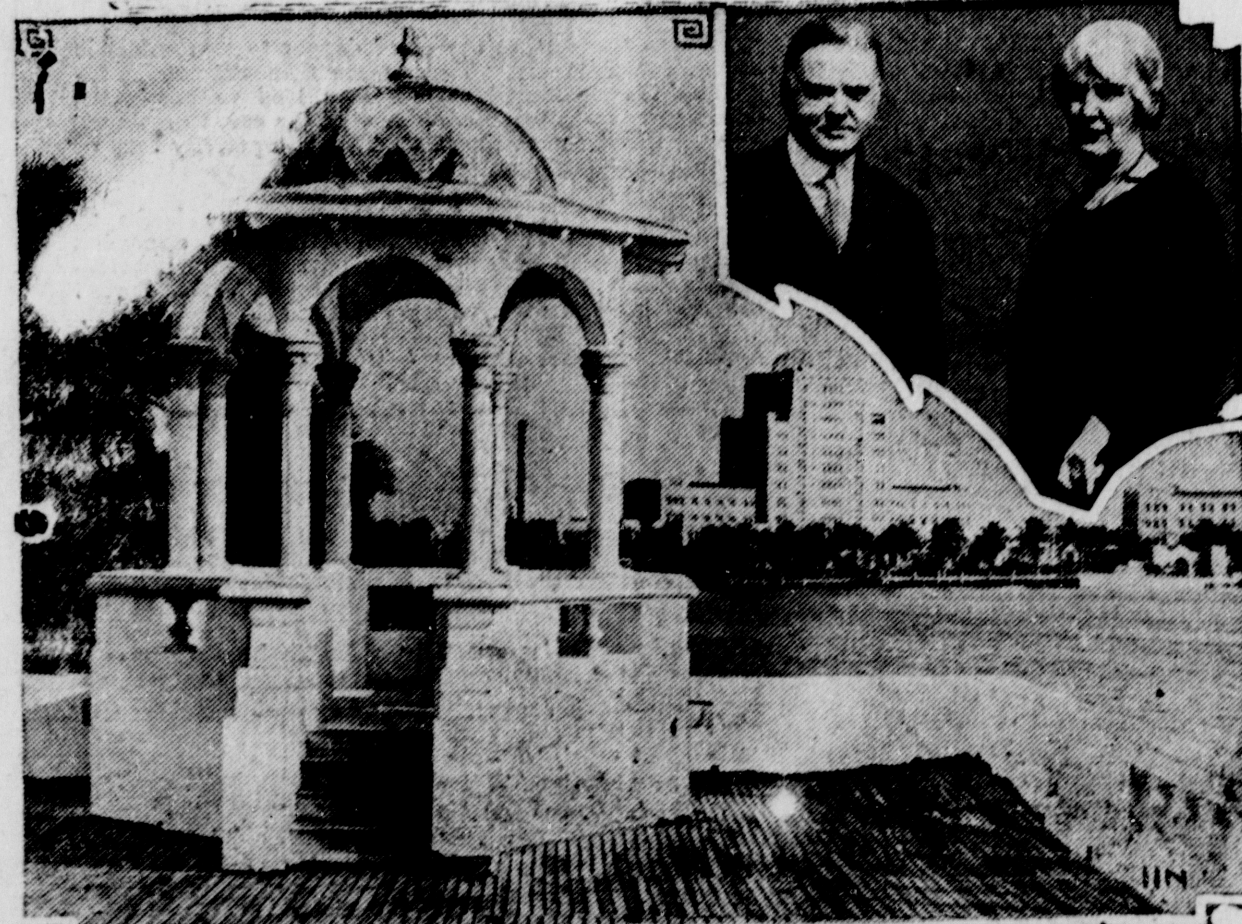

Little other important business was on the calendar for the day. The house decided to spend another day on minor bills, hoping to pass 30 or 40 before night.

SOCIETY WOMAN IS CHARGED WITH BEING DRUNK WHILE DRIVING

Washington, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Miss Mary Elizabeth Culbertson, 26, daughter of the late C. A. Culbertson, former governor and United States senator from Texas, was released on $1,000 bond today on charges of driving while drunk and leaving the scene of a collision. Miss Culbertson was arrested on Pennsylvania avenue following a chase of six blocks by police. Police charge Miss Culbertson collided with five automobiles and raced away.

the AFTER effects of FLU

more dangerous than Flu itself

Physicians advise that the chief danger in this epidemic is AFTER Influenza. Then, more than ever, colds attacking the weakened system may lead to bronchitis, pneumonia, sinus trouble, abscess of the ear, mastoiditis, or even the dread meningitis. This is especially true of children, or old folks.

AT FIRST, SIGN OF A COLD—Put some Vicks up each nostril and snuff well back. At bedtime, apply hot wet towels over throat and chest until the skin is thoroughly reddened. Then rub vigorously with Vicks. Spread it on thickly and cover with warm flannel.

Vicks acts 2 ways at once (absorbed and inhaled) and often checks a cold overnight. If by morning the cold still lingers, stay in bed and repeat the treatment every 4 hours.

AVOID TOO MUCH DOSING—A peculiarity of influenza is that its toxins leave the digestive system upset. Constant "dosing," especially in the case of children, still further disturbs the digestion and lessens the appetite, just when the body needs nourishment more than ever.

Vicks VapoRub is especially valuable here because it is applied externally, and so can be used freely at the first sign of every cold, without upsetting the most delicate digestion.

illness from consumption. The remains will be taken to Wadena for interment.

Brainerd and vicinity felt a touch of gold weather during the past two days that beats anything in many years. For 48 hours preceding 7 o'clock this morning the highest reading was 10 degrees below zero. Yesterday morning it touched 40 below, and the coldest this morning was 39 below zero.

EMPLOYED 31 YEARS BY NORTHERN PACIFIC

John Roselund, blacksmith helper at Brainerd, is to be retired on the honor rolls of the Northern Pacific on February 1, after having been employed by the company for nearly 31 years. Mr. Roselund, who was born in Finland, will have reached the age of 70 years at the time of his retirement.

THE KNOT HOLE

Vol. 3 THURSDAY, JANUARY 24, 1929 No. 36

Published for the information and entertainment of the home-loving folks in Brainerd and vicinity by the Standard Lumber Co. Paul H. Schult, Editor.

The blizzard we had the fore part of this week sure was a real old timer, and everybody is replenishing their supply of good old Standard Coal. Better not let that bin get too low as we may have another blizzard in a day or two.

If you have lost anything lately, you might try this: A farmer recently ran the following ad: Strayed, Jersey Cow, to the one who returns her I will give a drink of Four Rose ten year old whiskey. Next morning there were nine men with Jersey cows standing in the yard.

There undoubtedly will be a lot of building in the spring and the contractors will all be busy. Better come in now and line up with one of our carpenters to build your new home in the spring.

We have just received a shipment of balsam wool, that good old insulating material. It still isn't too late to insulate that attic and keep in the heat as we are going to have a lot of winter yet from all appearances.

Said the small boy: Maw and Paw had an awful time getting married. Maw wouldn't marry Paw when he was drunk and Paw wouldn't marry Maw when he was sober.

Are you going to reshingle your house in the spring? There is a new shingle out and it sure is the real thing. It is a good old fashioned cedar shingle dipped in asphalt and covered with rock. This gives you the permanence of a cedar shingle, beauty, and protection against fire. We have them on display, come in and see them.

We have just received a new size of Standard Coal. It is the stove size. This is excellent coal for the kitchen range as it is not too big and easy for the wife to handle. Try a ton and make her happy. We are sure she will appreciate the change.

WORD FROM W. E. HAYDON

Former Brainerd Man Prospects With Ice Cream Business in California

Word has been received here that W. E. Haydon, formerly of Brainerd, now at Inglewood, Calif., is planning an expansion of his ice cream factory that will practically double the present capacity of the plant.

Mr. Larson, also a former Brainerd resident, will be with Mr. Haydon and will take charge of the plant. In addition to their ice cream service, they will also do catering.

Mr. Larson is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and has had several years experience in the manufacture of ice cream. He was with Mr. Haydon in Brainerd, leaving here about five years ago.

Mr. Haydon is well known in Brainerd, having been in business here several years. He left two years ago this coming March.

Presbyterian Christian Endeavor

The Christian Endeavor of the First Presbyterian church held election of officers to serve the remaining part of the year. The following were elected:

President—Myrtle Lawson.
Vice President—Stuart Patterson.
Secretary—Frances Young.
Treasurer—Ada Flansberg.

The society has shown much progress during the year so far, and with these officers to direct for the remaining part of the year, expect to make even greater progress.

Farewell Party

The Christian Endeavor of the First Presbyterian church entertained at a farewell party on Monday evening in honor of Mrs. I. C. Strout who will make her home in Bemidji in the near future.

Mrs. Strout has been the advisor of the society, and under her supervision has shown much progress. The Endeavorers will greatly miss her help when she leaves.

The entire evening was spent in playing games, stunts and other activities, after which a lunch was served to about 35.

Mrs. Strout was presented with a token of remembrance from the organization.

Dorcas Society

The Dorcas society of the Swedish Bethany church will meet tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the church parlors. Mrs. Richard Lund and Mrs. Ira Tomlinson will entertain.

The meeting was originally scheduled to be held at the home of Mrs. Tomlinson, but on account of sickness, has been changed to the church parlors.

A program will be given and a social time will be enjoyed. All members are urged to attend, and visitors are always welcome.

Miss Olive Dale Hostess

Miss Olive Dale entertained a few of her friends last evening at her home 422 1/2 South Sixth street. The evening was pleasantly spent in playing cards. A luncheon was served later.

the AFTER effects of FLU

more dangerous than Flu itself

Physicians advise that the chief danger in this epidemic is AFTER Influenza. Then, more than ever, colds attacking the weakened system may lead to bronchitis, pneumonia, sinus trouble, abscess of the ear, mastoiditis, or even the dread meningitis. This is especially true of children or old folks.

AT FIRST, SIGN OF A COLD—Put some Vicks each nostril and snuff well back. At bedtime, apply hot wet towels over throat and chest until the skin is thoroughly reddened. Then rub vigorously with Vicks. Spread it on thickly and cover with warm flannel.

Vicks acts 2 ways at once (absorbed and inhaled) and often checks a cold overnight. If by morning the cold still lingers, stay in bed and repeat the treatment every 4 hours.

AVOID TOO MUCH DOSING—A peculiarity of influenza is that its toxins leave the digestive system upset. Constant "dosing," especially in the case of children, still further disturbs the digestion and lessens the appetite, just when the body needs nourishment more than ever.

Vicks VapoRub is especially valuable here because it is applied externally, and so can be used freely at the first sign of every cold, without upsetting the most delicate digestion.

illness from consumption. The remains will be taken to Wadena for interment.

Brainerd and vicinity felt a touch of cold weather during the past two days that beats anything in many years. For 48 hours preceding 7 o'clock this morning the highest reading was 10 degrees below zero. Yesterday morning it touched 40 below, and the coldest this morning was 39 below zero.

EMPLOYED 31 YEARS BY NORTHERN PACIFIC

John Roselund, blacksmith helper at Brainerd, is to be retired on the honor rolls of the Northern Pacific on February 1, after having been employed by the company for nearly 31 years. Mr. Roselund, who was born in Finland, will have reached the age of 70 years at the time of his retirement.

THE KNOT HOLE

Vol. 3

THURSDAY, JANUARY 24, 1929

No. 36

Published for the information and entertainment of the home-loving folks in Brainerd and vicinity by the Standard Lumber Co. Paul H. Schult, Editor.

The blizzard we had the fore part of this week sure was a real old timer, and everybody is replenishing their supply of good old Standard Coal. Better not let that bin get too low as we may have another blizzard in a day or two.

If you have lost anything lately, you might try this: A farmer recently ran the following ad:

Strayed, Jersey Cow, to the one who returns her I will give a drink of Four Rose ten year old whiskey. Next morning there were nine men with Jersey cows standing in the yard.

There undoubtedly will be a lot of building in the spring and the contractors will all be busy. Better come in now and line up with one of our carpenters to build your new home in the spring.

We have just received a shipment of balsam wool, that good old insulating material. It still isn't too late to insulate that attic and keep in the heat as we are going to have a lot of winter yet from all appearances.

Said the small boy: Maw and Paw had an aw-ton and make her married. Maw wouldn't marry Paw when he was drunk and Paw wouldn't marry Maw when he was sober.

Are you going to reshingle your house in the spring? There is a new shingle out and it sure is the real thing. It is a good old fashioned cedar shingle dipped in asphalt and covered with rock. This gives you the permanence of a cedar shingle, beauty, and protection against fire. We have them on display, come in and see them.

We have just received a new size of Standard Coal. It is the stove size. This is excellent coal for the kitchen range as it is not too big and easy for the wife to handle. Try a ton and make her happy. We are sure she will appreciate the change.

S. R. ADAIR NAMED ON CENTRAL COUNCIL

Becomes Vice President of Enlarged Scout Area; Represents Brainerd District on Board

BAKKEN ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Headquarters for Newly Unified Scout Areas to be at St. Cloud

Assistant Scout Executive S. C. Bakken returned last evening from St. Cloud where he attended the annual meeting of the Central Minnesota Area Council, held Tuesday evening.

A banquet was held for all in attendance, after which the business meeting was held. Officers for the ensuing year were elected. S. R. Adair was elected as vice president of the Central Minnesota Area Council. Mr. Adair also represents the Brainerd district on the executive board which is the governing body of the Council.

C. W. Armstrong of St. Cloud is scout executive for the entire area, with S. C. Bakken of Brainerd as assistant executive.

The central office for the new area will be in St. Cloud, where all communications of official character should be sent.

About 30 council members were present at the meeting in spite of the blizzard.

Following are a few of the officers elected:

President—C. S. Olds of St. Cloud. Scout Commissioner—N. M. Ahles, St. Cloud.

Vice Presidents to represent their districts on the Executive Board—Wm. Dennerly, Aitkin and J. L. Cross of Staples.

Several committee positions were also filled. The Range representative was not elected this time as the range had not held their district elections previous to the annual meeting.

Following the meeting, movies were shown by Regional Executive H. F. Pote, showing the various phases of scouting in the several councils of the region.

ST. MATHIAS

Mr. and Mrs. J. Humphrey and children and Mrs. L. P. Gravell were visitors at the Gravell home Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Miller and Miss Josephine Mons were visitors at the Gravell home Thursday afternoon.

Our heartfelt sympathy is extended to Emil Boskus who had the misfortune of losing his two first fingers on the right hand Wednesday morning. The accident happened at the E. Tollefsen farm where he was employed. He had taken the gun along going after some corn and it accidentally went off as it slipped off the rack.

Peter Fendrick of Pontiac, Mich., is visiting at the home of Martin Tautges.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Miller, Mable, Helen Kruger and the Dubois boys were callers at the Mons home Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jordan were visitors at the Jordan home Sunday. A wedding dance was given by Walter Franklin Tuesday evening in Johnson's hall at Fort Ripley.

Miss Edna Kruger and Felix Lindquist of Brainerd were guests at the A. Kruger home Sunday.

Now that the flu epidemic has passed over and everyone is better we hope there will be a better attendance at school.

Mr. and Mrs. John Doucette and daughter Louisa, of Topeka were guests at the Gravell home Sunday.

Cyril DeRostier and Howard Smith of Brainerd visited the week end at the G. Schlagel home.

Echoes From Beyond the Moon

Light on the wandering of wireless waves through the ether is claimed by Professor Stoermer, of Oslo, to have been thrown by experiments under taken in conjunction by Norwegian and Dutch wireless stations. The professor states that echoes from these waves have been clearly distinguished. He puts forward the view that the waves are thrown back to earth when they reach a point in space far beyond the moon.

Mystery in Song

The famous "Canadian Boat Song" was published first in Blackwood's magazine, Edinburgh, in September, 1829. It was then said to be "From the Gaelic," taken down from the singing of Canadian-born Highlanders; but no Gaelic original has ever been produced and the mystery of its authorship has never been cleared up.

ROOSEVELT

Archie Coffield and Ernest Brand made a business trip to Brainerd last Tuesday.

Our school will reopen Monday after being closed two weeks on account of sickness.

Floyd Coffield has purchased a tank heater.

Earl Coffield is working for Mr. Briggs at the present time.

Ernest Brand made a trip to Brainerd Saturday.

Thad Cooley is not improving very fast in his illness.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Ments is very sick with pneumonia. We hope he will recover soon.

Bert Cooley's family are able to be up but still have bad coughs.

Will Fehinshik is busy getting up a supply of wood.

Archie Coffield had the misfortune in getting one of his horses legs sprained when she slipped.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Marohn called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brand Sunday afternoon.

Our Sunday school reopened Sunday afternoon with fairly good attendance present.

Earth's Crust

The thickness of the earth's crust has been variously computed to be 10, 20 or more miles. Observations on earthquake motion by Milne and others indicated that the rocky material may extend for some 30 miles. Recent researches in regard to the radio-active substances present in rocks suggest that the crust is not more than 50 miles thick.

WINTER SPORTS OF EARLY DAYS

THE winter sports of early days in Pennsylvania, says Rev. A. G. Patterson, included sleds of home construction, made of oak boards runners. They were inch oak boards. There are plenty of hills in the state, sometimes half a mile long. The boys and girls organized parties for coasting. The sleds held three or four and the bobs or two sled tandem, held half a dozen or more. The difficulty in skating resulted in a lack of ponds or lakes. But we did have a body of water only three rods across and boys and girls came from miles around to skate on its surface.

I never saw skiing until I came up into this country. No snow shoes were used in Pennsylvania.

Indoor sports on a winter evening included the literary society which was held in the country district school. Nearly every school had a literary society and they exchanged visits, sometimes traveling five miles away. These were a great factor in community life. The journey from school house to school house was made by hiking.

At the meeting there were recitations, essays, and now and then an oration and a debate. Debate topics included for instance in a political way, tariff and free trade, and Pennsylvania being a republican state and largely devoted to manufacturing, the tariff side generally won.

Another topic was, "Which is the Mightier, the Pen or the Sword?" Hours of thought were devoted to this and researches included historical happenings of all the world back to time immemorial.

In general, the conclusion drawn is that these literary societies were of inestimable value. They furnished an avenue of information and exchange of thought.

About once a year a traveling singing teacher would conduct a singing school for about ten days and everybody came, men, women, boys and girls, and they always used the do, re, me, fa, sol, la, ti, do. A baby organ was brought along by the teacher, as no school had the money to have its own organ. There were no pianos in those days.

The teacher grounded the pupils in the foundations of music so they could read fairly good. Different parts were tried out. One of the popular roundelays was "London's Burning" with the sopranos and tenors calling attention to the fire and the bass and altos vigorously "pouring on water." They certainly sang long enough until some one yelled, "The fire's out," and then passed on to another song.

In the political days there were torchlight processions with the oil cans attached to the end of a pole and the bearers wore capes of oil cloth and peaked helmets. The cape served as an ornament, usually colored, and was also of utilitarian service, for when the exuberant partisan slanted the pole too much, the oil can usually dripped oil down the cape and continued down his back. Many of the boys would get in line and considered it the highest kind of an honor to be in the procession and contribute their noise and clamor.

At the time of the Blaine and Logan, and Hancock and Arthur campaign the favorite war cry was the names of the candidates.

Stump speakers, eagle screaming orators, occupied the rostrum at school houses and town halls and the open air.

Spell downs in the district school were features of the early days. The champion of one school would challenge the champion of another school and crowds of partisans would be present. Words were taken from the selected lists gathered by uninterested parties and then a stranger pronounced the word. He was usually judge of the spelling. "Mortgage" proved a puzzler for many and "sugar" was a stumbling block. "Scissors" also threw many a candidate. The spellers lined up parallel with the wall in two rows, the teacher standing in the middle and an unsuccessful contender took his seat among the noncombatants.

One of the greatest entertaining features was putting on the presentation of a public school by teacher and 20 pupils, and it gave the "bad boy" a chance to do his work and the "giggling girl" to do her stunts, and the "leading girl" of the school to "make eyes" across the aisle and the teacher alert to check and punish any infringement of the rules. The "school session" usually broke up in a grand disorder. The visitation of the school board, as mimicked, made an entertainment all by itself. The "president of the board" generally made a speech and sometimes objected to grammar conjugating the word I love, you love, etc. He didn't believe in teaching that sort of things to the children. And that was followed by another member of the board bringing up some topic, usually on the line of the play, that he didn't believe in any fun, any amusements, any frivolity, that the pupils were there for work only.

One should remember that these days of some time ago were ones which had no telephone; no daily paper (fortunate was the family which had a weekly paper); no libraries; no radio; no electric light; no phonograph; no photographs except tintypes; lead pencils generally used only in time of examination; tablets used only for examinations; no moving pictures; no theatres as we consider the word at present; no magazines; no Nick Carter dime novels. Some time later "The Saturday Night" came, a publication devoted to romantic tales and was looked down upon by the intellectual people of the town. Of course there were no flying machines or automobiles and the train service was only to be obtained at larger towns.

Occasionally in summer a circus of small size would visit the county seat a good many miles away and most of the families felt too busy to take the time to attend.

The conclusion to be drawn is that youth in those days was thrust upon its own resources for diversity of entertainment and recreation. And that in certain matters teachers and parents co-operated. The very scarcity of play material caused the children to devote boundless energies to the little they did have and to draw from the same unbounded enthusiasm.

Contrasted with today, youth has such an abundance of amusement that there is an actual surfeit and many do not appreciate the marvels offered, which in the old days would have been regarded as a miracle.

A trip eight miles away through the countryside by team of horses and a "crackey" wagon took eight hours for a round trip, and visit.

Today the same thoughtfulness should be put into community sports and the amusements for the home as in former times. It showed its value in the early days when these young people went out into business and professions and political life.

SOMETHING WRONG

FROM the standpoint of sheer physical beauty, attractiveness, and accessibility, the Brainerd lake region takes precedence over any other lake district in the state. A solid concrete slab stretches from Brainerd to within a few miles of the southern border of the state; Iowa, with its hundred million dollar road bond issue, has let paving contracts for the remaining unimproved portions of her north-and-south highway; Missouri is entirely completing her paved road system; Kansas is in the throes of a good road program. All roads for the summer tourist lead to Brainerd.

Yet Brainerd, for some reason, does not seem to be getting her share of this summer business. Thoroughly appreciating what we do get, and without being greedy, it could be increased tenfold without getting beyond our fair proportion. Perhaps it is advertising it needs, perhaps more suitable accommodations. Certainly it is not the lack of fine lakes, wonderful shore, perfect beaches, beautiful pine forests, or the best of fishing. Possibly no determined effort has been made to secure it. Most of such business has, like Topsy, just happened.

We may concede Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth as more logical industrial centers, and southern Minnesota may be on a parity with us in agricultural development. Equal to one-fifth of the total annual agricultural income is the best estimate of the mammoth new industry—the summer tourist trade; and where, in the entire northern lake region, is a lake district so susceptible of development along such lines as the Brainerd territory?

Why don't we get our share, at least?

Why Science Says "Keep Your Summer Tan"

And How You Can Get Real "Indoor Tan" After The Vacation Is Over

IN the light of recent scientific research a coat of tan has definitely become the mark of the physically fit. You are never healthier than when you come back from your vacation, browned and invigorated. And science advises you, "Don't lose it; keep that ruddy and glowing look!"

Heliotherapy, or sun-treatment, although long considered beneficial to a certain extent, came into especial favor during the World War, when surgeons found that exposure to sunlight hastened the healing of wounds and that treatment by sunlight was an aid to convalescence. In recent years sunbaths have become an accepted practice. Once women felt it necessary to protect themselves from sunshine. Last season saw a rush of debutantes to the beach, however, to acquire a fashionable coat of tan.

Tanning is a good thing during vacation, but it shouldn't end there. Medical authorities advise. Get all the sun you can, all the year 'round, on all parts of your anatomy, is their counsel. But don't overdo it at first. Take it gradually.

Analyzing Light

A ray of light is a very complex affair. When passed through a glass prism it will present the orderly arrangement of colors called a "spectrum," the visible colors of which are shown by that other phenomenon of nature, the rainbow. Each color represents a different wave length. These visible rays, however, constitute only a small portion of the entire ray. It is the combination of all these rays that we call light and it is a combination of these visible and invisible rays, in the proportionate quantities and qualities which make up natural sunlight, that produces this energizing force.

In the lower layers of our atmosphere these rays are cut off or absorbed by dust, smoke or fog. Hence they are least present in the places where they are most needed, the thickly populated cities and industrial regions. They also are cut off by clothing and window glass. Thus persons living the normal city life are largely deprived of these health-giving rays, if only on account of the high and closely placed buildings and the smoke pollution

All these things are pretty generally recognized today. The questions which many are asking, however, is: "How is it possible to continue throughout the year the same pleasant sun treatment that we took at the seashore in mid-summer?"

Carbon Arc Secret

Although few are aware of the fact, the same question—put, of course, in much more technical language—is what a number of the world's leading scientists have been asking for some time past. the combination of rays in natural sunlight the great problem has been to simulate the light of the sun. It has been recognized that once this is accomplished mankind will at last have found the real "Foundation of Health and Youth."

The government through the United States Bureau of Standards has taken an active interest in this work, and as a result this bureau announced recently that of all artificial sources the carbon arc is found to provide the closest approach to natural sunlight.

Following this finding by the Government Bureau, the arc carbon industry came forward with its co-operation and put this discovery in practical form for everyday home use. These sunshine machines give off the vital rays in approximately their natural form merely by plugging into an ordinary electrical outlet and it is the users of them who are boasting this unaccountable winter tan!

The true purpose of a budget

Every year you spend a large proportion of the money you get. So much for clothing. So much for shoes. So much for things to eat—for house furnishings, books and what not.

Here is the way to get the most for your money.

Keep a budget. Decide what you can afford to spend for each item, and hold yourself within this amount.

Then—to get the most for your budget money read advertisements carefully. The advertisements you read tell you what is new, est and best. They give you the latest ideas and improvements. They help you to get more from each dollar you have apportioned in your budget—and so live better and dress better with the same income.

The true purpose of a budget is to enable you to spend wisely—and only by careful reading of advertising can you hope to accomplish this result.

Read advertising regularly. It points the way to better living.

WINTER SPORTS OF EARLY DAYS

THE winter sports of early days in Pennsylvania, says Rev. A. G. Patterson, included sleds of home construction, made of oak boards runners. They were inch oak boards. There are plenty of hills in the state, sometimes half a mile long. The boys and girls organized parties for coasting. The sleds held three or four and the bobs or two sled tandem, held half a dozen or more. The difficulty in skating resulted in a lack of ponds or lakes. But we did have a body of water only three rods across and boys and girls came from miles around to skate on its surface.

I never saw skiing until I came up into this country. No snow shoes were used in Pennsylvania.

Indoor sports on a winter evening included the literary society which was held in the country district school. Nearly every school had a literary society and they exchanged visits, sometimes traveling five miles away. These were a great factor in community life. The journey from school house to school house was made by hiking.

At the meeting there were recitations, essays, and now and then an oration and a debate. Debate topics included for instance in a political way, tariff and free trade, and Pennsylvania being a republican state and largely devoted to manufacturing, the tariff side generally won.

Another topic was, "Which is the Mightier, the Pen or the Sword?" Hours of thought were devoted to this and researches included historical happenings of all the world back to time immemorial.

In general, the conclusion drawn is that these literary societies were of inestimable value. They furnished an avenue of information and exchange of thought.

About once a year a traveling singing teacher would conduct a singing school for about ten days and everybody came, men, women, boys and girls, and they always used the do, re, me, fa, sol, la, ti, do. ## WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

TO Irene Robeline it was a painful duty to sit up at the vigil of Lilith Holden. The story of Lilith's capture of handsome Guinn Holden, young minister of the Texas town, as told by Mattie Anson, village gossip, was like stabs with a knife. Lilith was the prettiest girl in town. Her coquetry didn't stop at the church, but almost before she knew it she had married Holden. A year later, with the birth of a child, Lilith died. Irene's heart aches for Holden, who attempts to care for the infant with the aid of a colored servant. The minister comes to her for advice, never realizing Irene's passion for him. Will Lundy, town doctor, in love with Irene, is equally ignorant of her secret. Even Mattie Anson who, hints that it is time for Irene to marry Lundy, is deceived. But when Lundy asserts his love Irene rejects him and determines the more to win Holden. She learns the care of babies so as to be of help to him, for his whole life is wrapped up in the pretty child, in whom he sees the dead Lilith. More and more the young father seeks Irene's advice about the infant's care. But Abby Whitaker also has her cap set for the young widower.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XI.

NEXT day Irene bought Lilith a teething ring, and thrilled to see how the father enjoyed showing her how to use it. He had forgiven her for suggesting germs.

Lilith did not, as a matter of fact, engross her father's whole thought, for the minister carried on the work of his church to the satisfaction of his congregation. The only disaffection felt was on no harm could come of listening to his sermons. They liked his line of talk, but they didn't want to put themselves in the power of the church. They trusted Guinn Holden, but they were also acquainted with the board of deacons. They felt perfectly safe to sit on the back seats with their girls, where escape was easy, but joining the church was a gray horse of another color.

On Sunday evenings the church would be filled with couples, for the pulpit, unaware of the shapeliness of his nose, the attractive wave in his black hair and the flashing whiteness of his teeth. But he wasn't weak, she told herself, for he had fighting fire in him, and would have made a rattling good Texas ranger himself. His lips were gentle, but his jaw was firm.

One day Abby Whitaker came in haste to impart a confidence to Irene. There had been a meeting of the board of deacons the night before, Friday night, with great goings-on. Rufe Whitaker had told the happenings to his wife, under stress of marital curiosity, although the affairs of the deacons were supposed to be secret. But what is a man to do if his wife, who is of a masterful spirit, wills to know what has taken place? So before Rufe had been allowed to sleep, he had told her all. And she had next morning told Abby all, and more.

The deacons wanted to turn Buck Evans out of the church for getting drunk. Buck was a brash young truck driver who had joined the church during the last annual revival, and had gone straight until this spree, which was a riotous boiling over.

"It's a bad example for the boys of the Sunday school," Rufe Whitaker had argued.

The minister had been dead against withdrawing fellowship from Buck. "Now's the time he needs us, when he's in trouble. We mustn't lose our grip now."

"If he will confess his guilt and ask the church's forgiveness, we might keep him," offered Deacon Grimes.

"We can't ask any man to humiliate himself publicly like that," the pastor objected.

"Wouldn't do no good if you did," Rufe Whitaker had cut in. "I already told him, and he told me to go to hell."

"That settles it," said Deacon Hitchcock, wagging his long gray beard like a Billy goat. "The open saloon is a mouth of hell. We got to close it."

"I'm with you for closing the saloon, but not for ditching Buck," the pastor had retorted. "To turn him out of the church would be to send him back to the saloon. Do we want to do that?"

But the deacons, being elderly and obstinate, and with no personal cravings for liquor, had insisted that the pastor was rash. "Young and impulsive," they called him. The debate had been long, but when the vote was taken the deacons had carried their point and the motion was passed that Buck should be excluded from the church.

"My dad and the rest of the deacons make me tired," Abby declared. "No sense in their fighting the preacher like that."

"No," said Irene, gravely. "I don't know what'll come of it."

When Abby had gone, Irene rose promptly, to see if she could find out what could come of it. She went straight to the pastor's study, an unprecedented thing for her to do, since she was usually careful to avoid gossip's eye.

"I think that was a perfectly terrible thing for those men to do," she cried, without preliminary.

The minister's face was haggard and pale. He passed his hand across his forehead wearily. "Yes, it's no way to treat Buck."

"It's no way to treat you!" she burst out.

He gave a short laugh that was not mirthful. "Me? Well, if the church passes that motion I'll hand in my resignation right afterward. The matter comes up on Sunday night in the business session before the regular services."

"Oh, you wouldn't do that," she cried. She felt a sudden sick fear, a whirling wretchedness.

"I couldn't do anything else, could I?"

"No, I suppose you couldn't, since you are yourself." The words sounded mechanical because her lips were stiff, but her heart was tumultuous.

He would go away and she would never see him again, her heart told her. He would never know that she loved him, never care! . . . Her wild heart fluttered in hope at a daring thought. Why not tell him—as, here, in this study, Lilith had done?

She took a step forward, her lips parted to speak, her cheeks burning, her eyes confessional.

Then she shrank back. The courteous, absent-minded look in his eyes told her he wasn't even thinking of her at the moment. He was thinking about the deacons and Buck. . . . No, she couldn't tell him of her love because he did not love her—yet. If he loved her, she could have told him anything.

She turned in silence and walked from the study, refusing to meet his eyes even when he held the door open for her and said goodbye.

The end of the world had come. . . .

the part of the girls, who would have liked less enthusiasm for such trivialities as prayer meeting or tea and more interest in feminine charms. Guinn Holden was a success as a pastor, but as a wooer he left everything to be desired.

The men and the boys of the town were as great admirers of him as were the girls, and showed it as openly, with none of the ostrich head-in-the-sand modesty of the girls, and could court his society without incurring the criticism of the Ladies' Aid. An unfair world!

The Sunday school youngsters followed his steps adoringly, and the small boys made a hero of him to such an extent that they said they'd like to be preachers when they grew up, instead of Texas rangers or train robbers or cowboys, and the grown-up youths liked him as well. The minister before him had been a stern man, with rigid ideas as to church discipline, who thought theatres vicious, disapproved of the circus, and insisted on turning young people out of the church for dancing or card playing.

"He took his religion as hard as buck age," one of the unregenerate young men said of him. Consequently, the call of the church in his day had been heard chiefly by the elderly, the sickly, and only the sedate among the youth. "It's enough to have the fear of the law hanging over you all the time, and what fellow wants to add a church sleuth to his trail?"

Now youth flocked back to the church to hear Guinn Holden. True, some of the young men were as skittish about church memberships as wary bachelors—or widowers of the barbed-wire traps of marriage; but they felt it was the appropriate social gesture for a young man to escort his girl or, at any rate, a girl to evening services. It was regarded as a pleasant mark of attention and it was cheap, there being nothing expected beyond a quarter in the collection plate, so that he was gaining social credit without straining his bank credit. A young fellow could visit with his girl before the services began, could sing companionably with her from one hymn book, could see his mates and what girls they had brought, and in general keep up with the pleasures of the town. Of course, if he took the same girl several times in succession, he ran the risk of being considered engaged to her, but that was a risk one had to take in all the ways of life.

Guinn Holden never asked Irene to go to church with him. He might have managed it (though it would have excited talk), but he didn't. He didn't even ask to be allowed to walk home with her. Perhaps that was because the old women trapped him in the aisle to ask about their tiresome souls.

She went to church each Sunday evening, but always with some other young man, never the minister—with Will Lundy oftenest of all.

Lundy, being a doctor, had to sit near the door, so that he could bolt in case of a call, and he got a bit fidgety now and then, but he asked her to go with him to keep her from going with anyone else. His attentions were so obvious that the congregation daily expected wedding invitations, and the Ladies' Aid had thought of giving Irene a shower. She wondered if it was wicked of her to get so much pleasure out of going to church, pleasure not connected with religion.

Guinn Holden looked like a healthy young saint up there in

NAVAL STRATEGY GIVEN TEST AT CANAL ZONE

"BLUE" ATLANTIC FLEET AND "BLACK" PACIFIC FLEET IN MANEUVERS

SYMPATHY LIES WITH INFERIOR. BLUES HAVE 75 SHIPS, BLACKS 99

Balboa, Panama Canal Zone, Jan. 24.—(UP)—Two great fleets approached each other in the Pacific today to test battle for supremacy of the Panama Canal. They were the "Blue" Atlantic fleet and the "Black" Pacific fleet.

The highest naval strategy was being displayed by both forces, but sympathy lay with the inferior forces the Blues, defending the canal with but 75 ships to the Blacks' 99.

Well out beyond the Gulf of Panama, the Blue fleet sought the Black. Ranging far in advance were the scouting ships—destroyers, scout cruisers and submarines.

During the daylight hours, planes swept aloft to hang in the hot skies seeking a glimpse of enemy scouts and first battle contact. Unless the Black fleet eludes the Blue scouts, contact should be made by tomorrow afternoon.

Admiral Wiley, commander-in-chief who will umpire the war game, planned to sail at 1 o'clock this afternoon from Balboa on his flagship, the U. S. S. Texas.

The attacking units employ the heaviest strength in capital ships while the defending group has been given the greatest offensive powers in aircraft.

The entire maneuver will supply extremely valuable data on relative merits of offense and defense in different arms of naval service—especially the efficiency of airplanes against battleships and cruisers.

DIFFERENCES IN DRY RANKS

DISCUSSION OVER $24,000,000 EX- TRA ENFORCEMENT AP- PROPRIATION

Washington, Jan. 24.—(UP)—The reported differences in dry ranks over the $24,000,000 additional prohibition enforcement appropriation was to be discussed today with the arrival of several dry leaders here including F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, Bishop Cannon, a high league official and others active in the organization.

McBride was to find upon his return also some discussion with the league regarding the desirability of his withdrawing from his duties as legislative representative of the league—the congress contact job and one of the most responsible in the organization.

This suggestion is made by some who feel that McBride has too much work and by others who feel that he was out of sympathy with Bishops Nicholson and Cannon, now dominant figures in the league, who condemned Secretary Mellon for opposing the Harris $24,000,000 enforcement proposal.

Dry leaders also found important business awaiting them here with regard to the $24,000,000 additional prohibition enforcement appropriation voted by the senate last night and now ready to go before house and senate conferees for consideration, along with the first deficiency bill of which it is a part.

House leaders seem to be preparing to try to defeat the $24,000,000 amendment, although varying opinions have been given by members. There is every indication the vote in the house will be close in view of the differences of opinion among leaders in the league.

Providing the house lets the amendment through there still is the possibility of a veto by President Coolidge. It was pointed out.

NAVAL STRATEGY GIVEN TEST AT CANAL ZONE

"BLUE" ATLANTIC FLEET AND "BLACK" PACIFIC FLEET IN MANEUVERS

SYMPATHY LIES WITH INFERIOR. BLUES HAVE 75 SHIPS, BLACKS 99

Balboa, Panama Canal Zone, Jan. 24.—(UP)—Two great fleets approached each other in the Pacific today to do battle for supremacy of the Panama Canal. They were the "Blue" Atlantic fleet and the "Black" Pacific fleet.

The highest naval strategy was being displayed by both forces, but sympathy lay with the inferior forces the Blues, defending the canal with but 75 ships to the Black's 99.

Well out beyond the Gulf of Panama, the Blue fleet sought the Black. Ranging far in advance were the scouting ships—destroyers, scout cruisers and submarines.

During the daylight hours, planes swept aloft to hang in the hot skies seeking a glimpse of enemy scouts and first battle contact. Unless the Black fleet eludes the Blue scouts, contact should be made by tomorrow afternoon.

Admiral Wiley, commander-in-chief who will umpire the war game, planned to sail at 1 o'clock this afternoon from Balboa on his flagship, the U. S. S. Texas.

The attacking units employ the heaviest strength in capital ships while the defending group has been given the greatest offensive powers in aircraft.

The entire maneuver will supply extremely valuable data on relative merits of offense and defense in different arms of naval service—especially the efficiency of airplanes against battleships and cruisers.

DIFFERENCES IN DRY RANKS

DISCUSSION OVER $24,000,000 EX- TRA ENFORCEMENT AP- PROPRIATION

Washington, Jan. 24.—(UP)—The reported differences in dry ranks over the $24,000,000 additional prohibition enforcement appropriation was to be discussed today with the arrival of several dry leaders here including F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, Bishop Cannon, a high league official and others active in the organization.

McBride was to find upon his return also some discussion with the league regarding the desirability of his withdrawing from his duties as legislative representative of the league—the congress contact job, and one of the most responsible in the organization.

This suggestion is made by some who feel that McBride has too much work and by others who feel that he was out of sympathy with Bishops Nicholson and Cannon, now dominant figures in the league, who condemned Secretary Mellon for opposing the Harris $24,000,000 enforcement proposal.

Dry leaders also found important business awaiting them here with regard to the $24,000,000 additional prohibition enforcement appropriation voted by the senate last night and now ready to go before house and senate conferees for consideration, along with the first deficiency bill of which it is a part.

House leaders seem to be preparing to try to defeat the $24,000,000 amendment, although varying opinions have been given by members. There is every indication the vote in the house will be close in view of the differences of opinion among leaders in the league.

Providing the house lets the amendment through there still is the possibility of a veto by President Coolidge, it was pointed out.

PRES. C. A. RYAN HEADS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Gives Address to Well Attended Meeting Last Night, Voices Needs of Brainerd

MANY REPORTS MADE

Hotel Committee Gives Extended Report, Chamber Endorses Project on Gull Lake

Last evening Attorney C. A. Ryan assumed office as president of the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce and in his inaugural address said in part:

"Rather than protest at criticism which is inevitable in any event, let me say that I welcome it whether directed towards myself or the Chamber as a body. Without it we cannot but degenerate into a back-slapping group absolutely lacking in any progress whatsoever. With the necessary criticism we have that which makes for better citizens and better communities."

"A resurrection of the so-called Tax Reduction Committee is the first thing on my list. This committee in the past has accomplished great things. We are all vitally interested in lower taxes. This committee serves as an admirable check upon those elective bodies which spend our money. We cannot hope to attract new industries by showing to them a high tax rate. This committee should and will be made permanent."

"Some immediate and forceful action is necessary to improve the theatre situation in our city. About a year ago certain promises were made by a representative of the interests operating the theatre here. These promises should be kept. We must be able to furnish adequate entertainment facilities along this line to the tourist just as we must furnish him adequate restaurant and hotel facilities. The present theatre situation is a reflection upon our city. Other interests are anxious to secure a foothold here. With the least bit of encouragement from us they will. I pledge myself to do my utmost to bring about a more desirable condition as quickly as possible."

"Our greatest concern should be a definite effort towards increasing the tourist business. As a foundation upon which to work we should have a concrete idea of how much in dollars and cents the tourist leaves in Brainerd each year. I shall immediately appoint a committee to investigate and report on this feature. There should be some method of determining the true state of affairs with more exactness, and of knowing for certain whether we are losing or gaining, and how much each year. The hotel committee has, after many months of earnest work, brought to a head the possibility of a new resort hotel on Gull Lake. The Chamber as well as every citizen of Brainerd should get behind this project. If we can ever hope to properly develop the tourist to the proportions we deserve, having in mind the great benefits to our city and ourselves, we must have a place to put those who have the money and the willingness to spend it. Every year we delay activity along this line we are losing money, and the tourist business that belongs in our trade territory is passing to and establishing itself at other points in the state. I consider this a golden opportunity to increase greatly, at one stroke, our income from this source."

"It shall also be my policy during the coming year to keep the members of this organization more fully advised as to its activities. Matters of interest and advantage should be threshed out on the floor. I believe this would tend to create a greater interest and activity than does a disposition of such matters by the board of directors alone."

Lake Hotel Situation

Discussion of the hotel project at Pine Beach on lower Gull Lake brought out many ideas. S. R. Adair spoke of its value. John W. Harrison spoke of the business done by a similar hotel, Birchmont, at Bemidji last year. R. R. Gould said it would bring money men to the Brainerd lake region. F. H. Gruenhagen was certain the balance needed to finance the hotel would soon be raised in Brainerd. Other speakers favoring the hotel project were R. L. Geist, R. L. Lagerquist, W. P. Tyrholm. Attention was called to the fact that Harrison & Start have already invested $100,000 in golf course and grounds near the proposed hotel site. On motion this resolution was drafted by a committee named, B. L. Lagerquist, R. L. Geist and S. R. Adair, and adopted:

Be it resolved that whereas the Chamber of Commerce Hotel Committee has submitted a report at this meeting setting forth the following facts, namely, that they have succeeded in interesting Harrison & Start and A. L. Roberts, the operator of 20 successful hotels, in the building and leasing of a four story hotel on the south shore of Gull Lake. This hotel to be of the most modern type of construction and to cost the approximate sum of $135,000 and have further succeeded in financing $120,000 of this amount to date, leaving a balance yet unfinanced of $15,000 to be subscribed locally.

Therefore be it further resolved that this body in regular meeting assembled do hereby indorse this project and offer its wholehearted support in carrying it to a successful conclusion.

It was decided to have a dinner at the Chamber of Commerce Friday evening, January 25, at which time men invited to attend will meet with the augmented hotel committee and discuss the situation. The enlarged hotel committee now consists of B. L. Lagerquist, Frank G. Hall, O. A. Peterson, D. C. Gray, R. R. Gould, J. P. Cibuzar, W. P. Tyrholm, F. H. Gruenhagen, S. R. Adair, R. L. Geist, Dr. E. C. Herzog, C. A. Ryan. The dinner hour will be 6:15 P. M.

In reports of committees, R. R. Gould read a communication received from the St. Paul Association referring to a rearrangement of the administrative divisions of the United States Chamber of Commerce and that a new Northwestern Division has been established comprising the states of Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Wyoming and Nebraska. On motion, the location of St. Paul as headquarters for the new district was favored.

A committee considering the matter of state inheritance tax reciprocity reported through Mr. Gould, who read this letter from Attorney Hilding A. Swanson:

At a December meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, R. R. Gould brought up the matter with reference to state inheritance tax reciprocity as approved by the United States Chamber of Commerce. It was first moved that the Chamber approve the same, but upon further consideration, it was requested that a committee should determine whether such action would be favorable to the State of Minnesota, and whether it was approved by the Attorney General. The president then appointed R. R. Gould, B. L. Lagerquist and Hilding Swanson members of this committee and the undersigned (Mr. Swanson) was requested to get the viewpoint of the Attorney General in the matter and the Attorney General on January 3, 1929 writes as follows:

"Your letter, addressed to the Attorney General has been referred to me. This department is not in favor of reciprocity as applied to inheritance taxes. Experience has shown that such an arrangement is more favorable to the eastern states and results in this state losing a large amount of inheritance taxes. Our inheritance tax law as originally enacted contained a reciprocity provision. This was repealed in 1911 owing to the fact that Minnesota lost rather than gained by it. For example, the Great Northern railway company is a Minnesota corporation. As the law now stands we collect a tax on the transfer of this stock by will or intestate law, whereas, were we to enter into a reciprocity arrangement with the eastern states, we would lose this revenue and have little to compensate for this loss, as there is, comparatively speaking, little stock owned by Minnesota residents in railways incorporated outside of this state. John F. Bonner, Assistant Attorney General in charge of inheritance tax matters."

The Chamber concurred in the views expressed in Mr. Swanson's letter.

John A. Hoffbauer spoke in favor of having the Chamber back Representative-at-large Edward P. Scallion in his fight for lower mining royalty taxes. He gave a picture of the old days on the range when 50 or more drills were exploring and the ore tonnage was heavy, and even the south range was active. Today-min-

MORE CONCERNING THAT "JAMBOUREE"

Committees Let Public in on Some of High Lights of Whittier's Big Night

FUN GALORE PROMISED

Sideshowes to Include "Penny Peeps," Tight Rope Artists, Fishpond, Beauty Parlor

Much curiosity is rife as to what the Whittier P. T. A.'s widely advertised "1929 Jamboree" on February 1 will prove to be, and the committees in charge have given some interesting information.

A word as to these standing committees of the Whittier association—the program and the ways and means. On the first are Dr. A. K. Cohen, R. T. Campbell, H. D. Hoffmann, Mrs. C. A. Iverson and Miss Hope Thabes. Mrs. R. T. Campbell, Mrs. C. A. Stadlbauer and Mrs. J. P. Anderson comprise the second. Working with these are a few special committees and Mrs. Robert Elder, the secretary, who has charge of the ticket sale.

"It should be understood," says Mrs. Elder, "that the admission tickets entitle the holders to enjoy all the carnival features—the clowns and the German band, etc., and the festive crowds of the main halls, and will admit them to the main show. This will offer a program of musical numbers, featuring Mrs. Harry Payne, Mrs. Swindell, Mr. LaMaitre and the new quartet—Mrs. A. W. Moulster, Mrs. Chas. Mahlum, Wm. Anderson and G. Wahlstrom. Mrs. Payne's number will be given with the assistance of a ladies quartet. A "Minnet," executed by 16 of the school children is also one of the big attractions of the main show."

The "Killy Revue," is under the charge of Miss Hope Thabes. It is too early to give the details of this, but it is easy to believe that the five numbers comprising it will be very pleasing.

Another very interesting and instructive feature is listed as birds, by Mrs. J. A. Thabes, and about this more detailed information will be given later.

The sideshowes will include "Penny Peeps," Mrs. C. A. Iverson in charge; "Tightrope Artist," promoted by Mrs. Stadlbauer; "Lotto," under the direction of Wm. Turcotte; "Fishpond," Mrs. Opsahl; a "Beauty Parlor," "Midget," and "Photograph Gallery." Frank Lowey will act as weighmaster and a checkroom will take care of your silk hat or the baby.

R. L. Geist will sell ice cream, his wife will sell home made pop corn balls, "Ice" Cibuzar sells pop, and the teachers will have delicious home made candy for sale. Clowns, balloons, paper caps and revelry and—most important of all—Mrs. Campbell and a corps of able assistants, will serve 6 o'clock luncheon. So here will really be no excuse for anyone to stay at home on Friday evening, February 1.

Remembering what a vast amount of work it requires to put on any-ing is not as heavy and exploration work has practically ceased. On motion a committee was named including Carl Zapffe, John A. Hoffbauer, S. R. Adair and A. P. Drogseth to draft suitable resolutions and submit them to Mr. Scallion.

The finance committee had a most commendable report made by F. H. Gruenhagen. Cash on hand was over $200, with all bills paid. Some dues still remained to be collected.

Frank Johnson of the house and a social committee reported on three farmer dinners served, band boys of Hibbing dined, and three dinners given at the Chamber with a balance of $27.77 cash on hand.

CRUMBS!

That's mostly what Brainerd gets from tourists---What they drop as they go by!

But the crumbs taste sweet. What about a good big slice?

There are about five natural divisions of the lake region---Alexandria, Detroit Lakes, Bemidji, Brainerd and the Arrowhead. Of these Brainerd, the least known, is actually the most attractive and accessible.

The summer tourists leave EIGHTY MILLION dollars every year.

Brainerd gets only ONE-FOURTH of ONE MILLION out of all that!

Why not fifteen million of the eighty---or ten, or five? Five million would double the basic income on which Brainerd now exists, distribute twice the money now in circulation. Make as live, prosperous and growing a city as there is in the state.

The Alexandria district boasts a summer population of not less than 25,000. Comparing territories, the Brainerd district should take care of a summer population of 100,000.

LYCEUM BILLS "PRIZE WEEK"

Week of Better Films to Open Saturday; Four Special Productions

TO GIVE AWAY PRIZES

"Synthetic Sin," "The Flying Fleet," and "The Barker," Booked as Features

The Lyceum theatre will celebrate "Prize Week" starting Saturday, January 26 during which time feature productions recently released will be shown.

Coupons will be given with every adult ticket during the week.

The prizes this year consist of a $50 diamond ring and a 26 piece silverware set given away through the courtesy of the Vaney jewelry store. The Lyceum will furnish the three cash prizes.

Specially selected pictures have been booked for the week of good pictures.

Tom Mix will appear on the opening day in his new western thriller, "Outlawed." Colleen Moore will be seen on Sunday, matinee and evening in her popular interpretation of "Synthetic Sin." Monday and Tuesday will be two real bargain days with Ramon Novarro and Anita Page here in "The Flying Fleet." The showing here will be its first release in the northwest. The picture has been acclaimed by critics as one of the greatest epics of the air ever filmed. It was produced through the cooperation of the U. S. Navy.

Among the leading outstanding pictures of the week will be "The Barker," to be shown Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. It is a 12 reel production featuring Milton Sills, Dorothy Mackaill and Betty Compson. "The Barker," closed a successful two weeks at the State theatre, Minneapolis, last week.

Special invitations are being extended to the surrounding towns to participate in this week of high class entertainment.

Announcing plans for the week, Manager W. R. Hiller today said, "I believe the public will find more real entertainment crowded into this one week than ever before and in addition many valuable prizes will be given away."

PRES. C. A. RYAN HEADS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Gives Address to Well Attended Meeting Last Night, Voices Needs of Brainerd

MANY REPORTS MADE

Hotel Committee Gives Extended Report, Chamber Endorses Project on Gull Lake

Last evening Attorney C. A. Ryan assumed office as president of the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce and in his inaugural address said in part: "Rather than protest at criticism which is inevitable in any event, let me say that I welcome it whether directed towards myself or the Chamber as a body. Without it we cannot but degenerate into a back-slapping group absolutely lacking in any progress whatsoever. With the necessary criticism we have that which makes for better citizens and better communities."

"A resurrection of the so-called Tax Reduction Committee is the first thing on my list. This committee in the past has accomplished great things. We are all vitally interested in lower taxes. This committee serves as an admirable check upon those elective bodies which spend our money. We cannot hope to attract new industries by showing to them a high tax rate. This committee should and will be made permanent."

"Some immediate and forceful action is necessary to improve the theatre situation in our city. About a year ago certain promises were made by a representative of the interests operating the theatre here. These promises should be kept. We must be able to furnish adequate entertainment facilities along this line to the tourist just as we must furnish him adequate restaurant and hotel facilities. The present theatre situation is a reflection upon our city. Other interests are anxious to secure a foothold here. With the least bit of encouragement from us they will I pledge myself to do my utmost to bring about a more desirable condition as quickly as possible."

"Our greatest concern should be a definite effort towards increasing the tourist business. As a foundation upon which to work we should have a concrete idea of how much in dollars and cents the tourist leaves in Brainerd each year. I shall immediately appoint a committee to investigate and report on this feature. There should be some method of determining the true state of affairs with more exactness, and of knowing for certain whether we are losing or gaining, and how much each year. The hotel committee has, after many months of earnest work, brought to a head the possibility of a new resort hotel on Gull Lake. The Chamber as well as every citizen of Brainerd should get behind this project. If we can ever hope to properly develop the tourist to the proportions we deserve, having in mind the great benefits to our city and ourselves, we must have a place to put those who have the money and the willingness to spend it. Every year we are losing money, and the tourist business that belongs in our trade territory is passing to and establishing itself at other points in the state. I consider this a golden opportunity to increase greatly, at one stroke, our income from this source."

"It shall also be my policy during the coming year to keep the members of this organization more fully advised as to its activities. Matters of interest and advantage should be threshed out on the floor. I believe this would tend to create a greater interest and activity than does a disposition of such matters by the board of directors alone."

Lake Hotel Situation

Discussion of the hotel project at Pine Beach on lower Gull Lake brought out many ideas. S. R. Adair spoke of its value. John W. Harrison spoke of the business done by a similar hotel, Birchmont, at Bemidji last year. R. R. Gould said it would bring money to the Brainerd lake region. F. H. Gruenhagen was certain the balance needed to finance the hotel would soon be raised in Brainerd. Other speakers favoring the hotel project were R. L. Geist, B. L. Lagerquist, W. P. Tyrholm. Attention was called to the fact that Harrison & Start have already invested $100,000 in golf course and grounds near the proposed hotel site.

On motion this resolution was drafted by a committee named, B. L. Lagerquist, R. L. Geist and S. R. Adair, and adopted:

Be it resolved that whereas the

MORE CONCERNING THAT "JAMBOUREE"

Committees Let Public in on Some of High Lights of Whittier's Big Night

FUN GALORE PROMISED

Sideshows to Include "Penny Peeps," Tight Rope Artists, Fishpond, Beauty Parlor

Much curiosity is rife as to what the Whittier P. T. A.'s widely advertised "1929 Jamboree" on February 1 will prove to be, and the committees in charge have given some interesting information.

A word as to these standing committees of the Whittier association—the program and the ways and means. On the first are Dr. A. K. Cohen, R. T. Campbell, H. D. Hoffmann, Mrs. C. A. Iverson and Miss Hope Thabes. Mrs. R. T. Campbell, Mrs. C. A. Stadlbauer and Mrs. J. P. Anderson comprise the second. Working with these are a few special committees and Mrs. Robert Elder, the secretary, who has charge of the ticket sale.

"It should be understood," says Mrs. Elder, "that the admission tickets entitle the holders to enjoy all the carnival features—the clowns and the German band, etc., and the festive crowds of the main halls, and will admit them to the main show. This will offer a program of musical numbers, featuring Mrs. Harry Payne, Mrs. Swindell, Mr. LaMotte and the new quartet—Mrs. A. W. Moulster, Mrs. Chas. Mahlum, Wm. Anderson and G. Wahlstrom. Mrs. Payne's number will be given with the assistance of a ladies quartet. A "Minnet," executed by 16 of the school children is also one of the big attractions of the main show."

The "Killy Revue," is under the charge of Miss Hope Thabes. It is so early to give the details of this, but it is easy to believe that the five numbers comprising it will be very pleasing. Another very interesting and instructive feature is listed as birds, by Mrs. J. A. Thabes, and about this more detailed information will be given later. The sideshows will include "Penny Peeps," Mrs. C. A. Iverson in charge; "Tightrope Artist," promoted by Mrs. Stadlbauer; "Lotto," under the direction of Wm. Turcotte; "Fishpond," Mrs. Opsahl; a "Beauty Parlor," "Midget," and "Photograph Gallery." Frank Lowey will act as weighmaster and a checkroom will take care of your silk hat or the baby.

R. L. Geist will sell ice cream, his wife will sell home made pop corn balls, "Joe" Cibuzar sells pop, and the teachers will have delicious home made candy for sale. Clowns, balloons, paper caps and revelry and—most important of all—Mrs. Campbell and a corps of able assistants, will serve 6 o'clock luncheon. So here will really be no excuse for anyone to stay at home on Friday evening, February 1.

Remembering what a vast amount of work it requires to put on any-

BOXING BODY ORDERS 4 CHAMPS TO FIGHT

WAY IS NOW PAVED FOR MUCH ARGUMENT

LOUGHRAN, WALKER, DUNDEE,
MANDELL ORDERED TO GET MATCHES

ALL MUST FIGHT IN 60 DAYS OR LOSE THEIR RESPECTIVE TITLES

By BERT DEMBY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, Jan. 24. — In ordering four champions to defend their titles within the next 60 days, the National Boxing Association, with one short phrase, has paved the way for much argument.

The association decreed that Tommy Loughran, light heavyweight; Mickey Walker, middleweight; Joe Dundee, welterweight; and Sammy Mandell, lightweight, all must fight within sixty days or lose their titles.

But the order was qualified with this phrase "except for some valid reason." The question immediately arises "What is a valid reason for a fighter not defending his title?"

If the champions do not choose to fight within the next sixty days the association probably will hear more "valid" reasons than it even dreamed existed.

Take Walker for instance. There is little doubt but what he can whip any middleweight. There's Rene DeVoie, Ace Hudkins, Dave Shade and possibly Harry Ebbets. But how much of a crowd would a Walker fight with any of them draw?

Dundee would find trouble with Jack Thompson, who already has knocked out Joe at catchweights.

Loughran's case is different. Tommy wants to fight as a heavyweight and if he can get heavyweight matches he cares little for the light heavy title. If he were to defend the light heavyweight title, his opponent might be either Leo Lomski or Tuffy Griffiths.

Whether the commission will consider as valid the possible excuse that the champions won't fight because no promoter can be sure enough of gate receipts to offer them championship money was not announced. But the excuse certainly has enough merit to cause argument.

TEAM DRILLED AT "Y" BUILDING
HERE, PRACTICE YESTERDAY
ON C-I GYM FLOOR

The Brainerd high school basketball team faces a stiff week-end ahead with two games booked, one at Little Falls tomorrow evening and the other at St. Cloud Saturday evening.

In preparation for the games the players travelled to Crosby-Ironton for a workout yesterday afternoon. Coach Kasch drilled them in defensive maneuvers chiefly, although plays for the offense were also stressed.

Tuesday the team went through a short workout at the Y. M. C. A. gym.

Of the two games the one at St.

Cloud will unquestionably prove the most trying for the locals. The St. Cloud Techs have been going big so far this season and are anxious to meet the Brainerd team of 1929.

The game will be played in the Roosevelt gym, the armory being taken over for another purpose.

BOXING BODY ORDERS 4 CHAMPS TO FIGHT

WAY IS NOW PAVED FOR MUCH ARGUMENT

BUSY WEEKEND FACES HIGH FIVE

LOUGHRAN, WALKER, DUNDEE, MANDELL ORDERED TO GET MATCHES

ALL MUST FIGHT IN 60 DAYS OR LOSE THEIR RESPECTIVE TITLES

By BERT DEMBY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Jan. 24. — In ordering four champions to defend their titles within the next 60 days, the National Boxing Association, with one short phrase, has paved the way for much argument.

The association decreed that Tommy Loughran, light heavyweight; Mickey Walker, middleweight; Joe Dundee, welterweight; and Sammy Mandell, lightweight, all must fight within sixty days or lose their titles.

But the order was qualified with this phrase "except for some valid reason." The question immediately arises "What is a valid reason for a fighter not defending his title?"

If the champions do not choose to fight within the next sixty days the association probably will hear more "valid" reasons than it even dreamed existed.

Take Walker for instance. There is little doubt but what he can whip any middleweight. There's Rene DeVoce, Ace Hudkins, Dave Shade and possibly Harry Ebbels. But how much of a crowd would a Walker fight with any of them draw?

Dundee would find trouble with Jack Thompson, who already has knocked out Joe at catchweights.

Loughran's case is different. Tommy wants to fight as a heavyweight and if he can get heavyweight matches he cares little for the light heavy title. If he were to defend the light heavyweight title, his opponent might be either Leo Lomski or Tuffy Griffiths.

Whether the commission will consider as valid the possible excuse that the champions won't fight because no promoter can be sure enough of gate receipts to offer them championship money was not announced. But the excuse certainly has enough merit to cause argument.

SHORT ON SNOW, RACERS WEAR OUT SNOWSHOES

St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 24. (U.P.) — As a result of a shortage of snow, participants in a snowshoe race from Montreal to Lewiston, Me., wore out 27 pairs of snowshoes in 48 hours.

DIES OF HEART FAILURE AT DANCING PARTY

Austin, Minn., Jan. 24. (U.P.) — George W. Fields, 47, department superintendent in the Hormel Packing company, died of heart failure here early today while at a Parody club dancing party. He is survived by his widow and two infant children.

SHARKEY READY FOR FIGHT WITH CHRISTNER FRIDAY

New York, Jan. 24. (U.P.) — Trained to the best condition he has attained since he knocked out Jim Maloney almost two years ago, Jack Sharkey of Boston rested today in preparation for his 10-round heavyweight match with K. O. Christner, the former Akron, O., tire worker, in Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Although little betting has been reported, Sharkey has been made a 3 to 1 favorite.

Resigns Post

Dr. Clarence Cook Little, who has resigned as president of the University of Michigan, Dr. Little's letter to the board of regents mentioned differences between himself and the board regarding administration policies.

IRVING TODD HEADS 'PHONE MEN'S GROUP

St. Paul, Jan. 24. (U.P.) — Irving Todd, Hastings, today was elected president of the Minnesota Telephone association at the organization's annual convention. The convention was attended by nearly 500 persons from all parts of the state.

KASCH'S MEN MEET LITTLE FALLS THERE TOMORROW EVENING

FOLLOW WITH CLASH SATURDAY NIGHT AT ST. CLOUD, MEETING OLD RIVALS IN TECHS

TEAM DRILLED AT "Y" BUILDING HERE, PRACTICE YESTERDAY ON C.I. GYM FLOOR

The Brainerd high school basketball team faces a stiff week-end ahead with two games booked, one at Little Falls tomorrow evening and the other at St. Cloud Saturday evening.

In preparation for the games the players travelled to Crosby-Ironton for a workout yesterday afternoon. Coach Kasch drilled them in defensive maneuvers chiefly, although plays for the offense were also stressed.

Tuesday the team went through a short workout at the Y. M. C. A. gym.

Of the two games the one at St.

Cloud will unquestionably prove the most trying for the locals. The St. Cloud Techs have been going big so far this season and are anxious to meet the Brainerd team of 1929.

The game will be played in the Roosevelt gym, the armory being taken over for another purpose.

KIDS WIN THREE CLOSE GAMES FROM MONUMENT WORKS

OAKLAND-PONTIACS TAKE TWO FROM MOOSE NO. 1; PONTIACS, KIDS TIE FOR FIRST

The Oakland-Pontiacs dropped one game to the Moose No. 1 while the Princess Candy Kids were taking three close games from the Monument Works, making a tie for first place in the league between the Pontiacs and the Kids.

This evening the Bye Clothing Co. meets the Cottage Grill and the Lions Club meets Moose No. 2.
